BENEFITS OF BUYING LOCALLY

- Local food is better for the environment — it keeps land open, in production, and requires less fuel for transportation and therefore causes less pollution.
- Locally grown food tastes better — when picked within the last day or two, it is crisp, sweet, and loaded with flavor.
- Local produce is better for you — food that travels less time and distance holds more of its nutrients.
- Local food supports local economies — farmers purchase feed and materials from local businesses, thus reinvesting in the community.
- Local food strengthens local farm families — with direct and local sales, farmers can make more money and grow their businesses.
- Local food is safer — consumers like knowing where their food comes from and how it is grown. If there is a food-related issue, it is easier to trace it back to the source when grown locally.
- Local food builds community — farmers' markets provide excellent venues for community gatherings.
- Local food preserves the open character and rural space — with growing development pressures, picturesque barns, lush crop fields, and meadows full of wildflowers will survive only as long as farms are financially viable.
